Bachelor of Laws = your opportunity to promote ideals of justice through the rule of law.

Complete a Bachelor of Laws at UniSA and you are on your way to a stimulating career in the legal profession, business or government. This academic degree provides you with one of the key qualifications required for legal practice. For those with an interest in other areas, the degree provides the ideal basis for building a challenging career across many sectors in both the private and public arenas.

This qualification will give you the flexibility to make broad choices about your ultimate career direction. The skills and knowledge gained will help you to develop a strong foundation in the discipline of law, a profound insight into modern society, and the necessary skills for successful legal practice – attributes that many employers are seeking locally, nationally and internationally.

The demand for capable professionals with legal skills is increasing. You have an opportunity to enter an area that is dynamic, growing and global: an area that abounds with opportunities for those interested in practising law as well as those with an interest in applying legal skills outside areas of professional practice. Increasing professionalism and growth in this area means that continuing employment options for graduates exist in a large range of areas.

Which Occupations?

The Bachelor of Laws is a qualification leading to a professional career. Graduates who wish to practise law select the 'practice stream' in their degree and complete a Graduate Diploma in Legal Practice enabling them to enter or work towards roles such as an administrative lawyer, barrister, law researcher, legal officer, patent attorney, solicitor or parliamentary counsel.

Kristy-Anne Leith

Year Graduated: 2011
Job Title: Tipstaff
Employer: NSW Supreme Court

"I chose this double degree because I was passionate about justice, human behaviour and understanding why people behave the way they do, and wanted to gain an education that would allow me to make a difference. Studying at UniSA has allowed me to gain many practical skills, giving me the opportunity to debate and present on bail applications and argue about the admissibility of evidence."
