Challenging behaviour in out-of-home care sector and the importance of collaboration.

The Australian Centre for Child Protection invites you to this lunchtime seminar by Sara McLean.

In this presentation Sara will outline some of her PhD research in which she examined barriers to collaboration between stakeholders in the out-of-home care sector. As part of her research she examined how stakeholders accounted for and addressed the types of challenging behaviour experienced amongst this population. It is hoped that this presentation will stimulate discussion about how to improve collaborative practice in this important area.
