

About The Hawke Centre

The Bob Hawke Prime Ministerial Centre is a University of South Australia initiative devoted to generating ideas and solutions to achieve cohesive and sustainable societies.

The Centre is named after Bob Hawke, a third generation South Australian, one of our most notable Prime Ministers (1983 – 1991) and a great conciliator nationally and abroad.

The Hawke Centre's Public Program offers a lively calendar of lectures, seminars, debates and other collaborative events for the community. On-line resources provide a unique public learning opportunity. Many presentations are available as transcripts or audio files on the Hawke Centre website.

Promises of a New Generation

This program is being developed to encourage young people to become active citizens, locally and globally, including the Hawke Centre's FREE Film Series: Sustaining our Global Future.
