REFLECTIONS ON BECOMING A PROGRAM DIRECTOR

Dr Jonathan Crichton
Program Director
BA (Languages and Intercultural Communication)
School of Communication, International Studies and Languages
Division of Education, Arts and Social Sciences
• Discovering how students themselves experience the program – ongoing priority
• Understanding the program from multiple (new) perspectives – within/beyond the university
• Managing changing relationships, and perceptions of yourself – 360 degrees
• Ensuring due process – accountability and inclusivity
• Foregrounding quality and viability – developing the ‘teaching-research-marketing’ nexus
• Working with colleagues to create a shared vision for the program
